ADMITTED TO PRACTICE

California

Lisa LaFourcade is a certified specialist in estate planning, trust and probate law by the California State Board of Legal Specialization.

» Advising high net worth individuals, businesses and charitable organizations

Her practice focuses on advising high net worth individuals, privately held businesses, and charitable organizations. Her areas of practice include all aspects of estate, gift, capital gains and income tax planning, advanced wealth and business succession planning, charitable planning, capital gains tax deferral techniques, corporate structuring for private businesses, asset freeze techniques, insurance planning, and trust tax planning and administration. Early in her career, Lisa garnered extensive experience as a trial attorney. She successfully litigated major cases involving significant probate disputes and will contests, contractual matters, creditor's rights/bankruptcy matters, business torts and commercial real estate issues.

» Speaker and lecturer

Lisa enjoys speaking at seminars for both clients and professionals and has been a guest lecturer on gift and estate taxes at Chapman University School of Law.
